INFORMATION SESSIONS
Diversity Equity and Inclusion—Kim Baker-Flowers
Dr. Baker-Flowers updated the board on the work that the OEI has been doing. Besides being a compliance office to more work in diversity, equity and inclusion, looking at it on a holistic approach. The three major areas of work in the OEI office are Equal Opportunity/Nondiscrimination and non-harassment, Title IX and Diversity & Inclusion which includes many task forces and committees around the district.

Social Justice Workshop began in Fall 2016, since 2015 there have been over 700 faculty and staff participate in social justice workshops. Last year a pilot for a non-credit certificate was created. This is designed to focus on individual learning on issues relevant to diversity, equity and inclusion in small groups.

A few other initiatives that OEI has been work on are Transforming White Privilege, Housing and Food Insecure Task Force, and a Trans-related Guidance Task Force to help the community create awareness around these concerns.

The OEI mark is a visual brand identity for the OEI office. It was created in partnership with DLDC and strategic communications.

District Leaders of Diversity Council is a group of leaders from around the college to help move this work forward. There are subcommittees within DLDC that are tasked with issues such as marketing, policy, Take 5, professional development and data. The LITE: Listening Intervention Team for Equity is also a subcommittee that was piloted fall 2016. This serves as a resource for Serves as a resource for PCC students, faculty, and staff who have experienced inequity or who are in need of guidance to successfully navigate challenging dynamics at the college across cultures, races, ethnicities, gender identity or expression, sexual orientations, ability, faiths and other aspects of individual and group identity

The DLDC Performance Management/Assessment Subcommittee is a group that created an Intercultural Competence Assessment tool for managers. The tool was implemented in March of 2017. As an organization and as individuals, we recognize the need for continuous development and evolution. As our understanding of equity and inclusion evolves, so will this tool.

Diversity Recruitment Program—Alisa Hampton and Greg Dockery
Alisa and Greg provided information to the board on what priorities and plans are for the diverse hiring at PCC. In 2015 the focus for diverse hiring was focused on full-time faculty and block hires. In 2016 management hires were added. In 2017 the very first Diversity Recruitment Plan for PCC was developed. In 2018 the focus will remain on management with the addition of Academic Professional and the Adjunct Faculty. Full-time faculty diverse hires were at an all-time high with 35% being of diverse backgrounds. Management diverse hires in 2017 increased by 12%.

Several slides were presented that provided detail of these groups.

The Diversity Recruiting Plan for 2017-2018 include marketing and social media, career and recruitment fairs, networking with local diverse organization and events, inclusion advocacy, focused faculty recruitment, and retention for new hires.

Strategic Initiative Updates
Advising—Rob Steinmetz, Heather Lang, Traci Simmons
Academic advising is critical to equitable student success as well as improved satisfaction with services and interventions. The expected outcomes are that advising will be a consistent model with a service delivery approach. The goal is to have improved organizational and administrative structure that is funded and sustainable. Key to the success will be integrating technology solutions and tools to support the service delivery model to provide a positive user experience. A powerpoint can be found on the board website.

Online Education Resources: Math—Alex Jordan and Cara Lee
Alex Jordan reviewed what exactly and Open Educational Resource is and the project they are working on. This project is projected to save students up to $2 million. The book was used in a pilot and student reviews rate it average to above average. The next step is to have the faculty use the book which will have to be approved by the department. A powerpoint with links and data was presented.

Non Credit Registration—Tonya Booker and Bonny Vosu
There are about 36,000 students enrolled in non-credit programs. Currently, the process for these students to register is very clunky. There are many complaints to Community Education because of this. The intention of developing easier processes for these folks would result in higher enrollments, increased revenue, greater operational efficiency, fewer student complaints, and increased customer satisfaction with PCC systems, efficient employer engagement, and improved access to data in order to promote data-driven decisions.

During the first year of the initiative we have conducted business analysis of current processes, evaluated potential solutions, conducted customer reference calls and incorporated a site visit and engaged in implementation and scoping calls.

There has been board engagement around the college. Folks from IT, Enrollment Services, Registrar, Bursar, Banner Team, Web Team, Institutional Effectiveness, Student Affairs, Financial Services and Human Resources have been engaged in conversations to develop best practices.

Next steps will be to evaluate the work done and make a recommendation.

REPORTS

Classified Union
Jeff Grider noted that the day after the last board meeting was the all-day DLDC Retreat. I can't underscore enough the comments about what an incredible difference it has made to have Kim Baker-Flowers running the ever-expanding Office of Equity and Inclusion, and Kim is pivotal in the success coming out of the District Leaders of Diversity Council. He noted it is an honor to work with such a great, dedicated group of folks.

This last month there was one bargaining session, which was the most productive session yet. The session scheduled for last Friday, which was unfortunately canceled, but that cancellation did allow a couple of Federation Team Members to attend the short PCC Board Meeting prior to their planning retreat.

He thanked all the hard-working, good-hearted folks who participated in all these retreats. Board, Union, and DLDC which many are in this room.

Faculty and Academic Professionals
Michele Marden reported for Frank Goulard. She teaches math at SY campus and is the FFAP Treasurer. Last month she shared about professional development focused on teaching practice. Another area that is a concern at PCC and could have repercussions for the college’s growth: Participation in decision making and information sharing.

Unfortunately, some in our learning community don’t believe their voices are heard. Some even believe that when administration asks for feedback, it is meaningless because the decision has already been made. This contributes to apathy and a jaded opinion that they are not valued.

Periodically, she finds herself in group where someone says, “We should start speaking at the board meetings!” Typically, this happens when people are so frustrated they don’t know what else to do to have their ideas or concerns acknowledged. As far as she knows, this hasn’t happened yet. A couple years ago, during a time of crisis at the college, she remembers when then Chair Director Palm asked employees to share their concerns with the board. This was appreciated. When people start talking about coming here to speak, she wonders if the board still want people to share? If so, on what topics? She also voice concerned over what information reaches the board level? Is it many-voiced and a full picture? Is many-voiced input appropriate for board work? Is the board deeply connected on things like the negotiations process, the implementation of bond funds, or the internal audit survey? Should they be? Are there times when the board’s deliberations would be informed by a full range of opinions, but the voices are absent?

She isn’t being presumptuous in sharing two ideas for the board to consider. First, when it is important to hear many voices, consider if the process of gathering input gives safety if people have concerns, unpopular opinions, or might fear repercussions. Speaking before the board is quite intimidating (and two minutes really isn’t much time to share). Safety is needed for PT faculty who are job insecure and even for administrators who may be caught up in college politics and may not feel they can speak freely. Surveys may be a safe way to gather input. Perhaps also private conversational meetings. Or another idea is as much as your time allows, be involved in the processes for gathering information (or learn about how information was gathered). For example, for surveys, do board members have input on crafting the survey and consider if the questions will be meaningful to the recipients? Know how the survey was promoted and distributed? If it went out during a time when there is a high chance of participation or during summer? Review of the raw input or are highlights/themes shared where opinions have been removed?

Reconnecting to professional development, if this is a topic that the board wishes to learn more about, she suggests a group share PCC’s success and barriers, as well as best practice from other institutions. You may also wish to learn more broadly about professional development needs. Everyone she asked has shared there is something needed for their jobs and their employee class.

Board
Director Sonnleitner appealed greater community that this board is not to be feared, they are human beings.

Chair Thorne-Ladd thanked the board members for spending the day in the planning retreat. She thanked all the staff for the work that is being done with the strategic initiatives.

President
President Mitsui echoed Director Sonnleitner sentiments. He mentioned that Chair Thorne-Ladd and he will be submitting an OP ED piece around the events in Charlottesville. He gave a shout out to PCC Rock Creek for an award from Hillsboro 2035 for Outstanding Organization for 2017. We are also a finalists in the 2-year college category for a Climate Change Award from Second Nature. Thanks to Briar Schoon and Sandra Fowler-Hill for their support with sustainably efforts district wide.

18-052 COMMENDATION OF RETIRING EMPLOYEE – JAMES BARRY

PREPARED BY: Human Resource Department Staff

APPROVED BY: Mark Mitsui, College President

REPORT: James Barry has performed faithfully in his duties as a Groundskeeper II for Portland Community College since October 24, 1979. He retires effective October 12, 2017.

RECOMMENDATION: That the Board commend him for his service to Portland Community College and wish him well in his retirement years.
The College is seeking authorization from the Board of Directors to use the Job Order Contracting (JOC) procurement method, a process similar to the Flexible Spending Contracting Pool (PCC 47-0288, #20), as one of the approved solicitation methods.

The purpose of the JOC process is to establish a particular class of services where: 1) the need for such service is ongoing in nature; 2) where it is difficult to anticipate the service need, time, amount, availability of contractors; or 3) where service needs arise so quickly that it is not practical or cost-effective to conduct individual solicitations. Under the JOC process, a single (competitively selected) contractor will assume responsibility to contract for and have on hand a team of sub-contractors to support the College’s facility maintenance, repair and operations (MRO) work. Those jobs are all estimated to be under $149,000 per project. This new approach of meeting the ongoing MRO needs would substantially relieve the Facilities Management Services (FMS) and the Purchasing Services of significant low dollar, high volume transactional work by shifting it to the successful JOC provider.

Utilizing a JOC provider will eliminate a significant number of individual solicitations which are in the intermediate level (under $149,000) procurement processes, all the associated work, required negotiations, solicitation and contract document generation, and on-going day to day administration including oversight and payments.
Once the JOC provider is selected, they will immediately begin to build a “pool” of available sub-contractors on a requirement basis skilled in every trade areas necessary to meet the College Facilities MRO needs.

With the Board of Directors approval, the FMS Department intends to process/issue a Request for Proposal (RFP), select and negotiate a JOC contract, and allow the selected JOC provider time to build their local infrastructure, recruit MRO sub-contractors and train the College FMS staff on how to best employ the JOC process.

In anticipation of using the JOC process, FMS submitted a separate item before the Board of Directors’ review and approval for an increase on existing general construction services contracts. The JOC primary goals are to reduce low value transactional activity and to promote a contracting process that will improve Minority, Women-owned and Emerging Small Business (MWESB) participation.

The College is seeking authorization that would allow the use of the JOC process, an approach that the College has not previously used, this it is identified as a pilot project. FMS will submit the RFP evaluation result and award recommendation for the Board of Directors’ review and approval. The plan is for the selected JOC provider to pilot the general contracting services and electrical maintenance services, and if this pilot is successful, provide the options of expanding to other trade services.

RECOMMENDATION: That the Board of Directors, acting as the Local Contract Review Board for the College authorize the use of Job Order Contracting, as one of the approved solicitation methods.
EXEMPTION FROM COMPETITIVE BIDDING - AUTHORIZE USE OF THE CONSTRUCTION MANAGER/GENERAL CONTRACTOR (CM/GC), AN ALTERNATIVE CONTRACTING METHOD FOR RENOVATION OF COLLEGE SERVICES BUILDING

PREPARED BY: Avelina Gulmatico, Procurement Coordinator, Finance Purchasing/FMS Purchasing

FINANCIAL RESPONSIBILITY: Tony Ichsan, Director, Facilities Management Services

APPROVED BY: Jim Langstraat, Vice President, Finance and Administration
Mark Mitsui, College President

REPORT: The College has a need to hire a qualified contractor to provide general contractor’s services for the College Services Building (CSB) structural renovation project, not to exceed $1.6 million. Because of the complexity of this project and after careful review, the College would like to use the Construction Manager/General Contractor (CM/GC) as the contracting method.

The selected CM/GC will act as a partner with the College and the consultant in the design process and will advise as to: new innovations and best practices as well as identification and reduction of risks as a result of the contractor’s years of proven experience with similar work.

In addition, the process will require both CM/GC and the College to look at all options including using techniques and/or best approaches that reduce time and cost. The process will also ensure value engineering, as the CM/GC will be able to provide cost estimates for all designs and alternatives within the design phase. It will also allow the contractor to begin the planning of construction schedule during the design phase giving the College a better sense of how construction will impact the College so that we can adjust the construction schedule accordingly to minimize impacts to the students and staff’s regular schedule.

By using the CM/GC process, as one of the evaluation criteria, the College will have the option to ask the proposers to provide their best approach on increasing participation and contracting opportunities for Oregon certified Minority, Women-owned, Small Emerging Businesses.

The selected CM/GC will be working together with OTAK Inc., the College’s representatives and other hired contractors and consultants. On June 15, 2017, BA 17-138, the College approved the contract with OTAK Inc., to provide engineering and architecture services for this CSB project.

Based on College Public Contracting Rules, PCC-49-600, PCC may use alternative contracting methods, which includes the CM/GC method. The College will be issuing a Request for Proposal (RFP), which will allow flexibility in the proposal evaluation and contract negotiation process. The department intends to submit a separate resolution for the RFP result and award recommendation, including the Guaranteed Maximum Price for the project.

Findings:

a. The Board finds that the CSB Project is well suited to the CM/GC contracting procedure, because of the complexity, careful planning, and moving coordination of staff from these Departments: Facilities Management Services, Public Safety and Transportation and Parking Services.

b. The Board finds that the College is knowledgeable and has a demonstrated capacity to manage a CM/GC process in all disciplines.

c. Pursuant to PCC 49-640, an RFP process will be utilized to solicit a qualified general contractor, the procurement will be formally advertised, competition will be obtained through competitive process, the award will be based on identified selection criteria, and one of the criteria will be price. As a result the Board finds that utilizing the CM/GC process is unlikely to encourage favoritism in the awarding of public contracts or substantially diminish competition because of the unique nature of the project.
d. Pursuant to PCC 49-630, the Board finds that utilizing the CM/GC process will result in substantial cost savings to the College because:

i. The proposed team approach will improve communication and continuity, which the Board expects will expedite decision making and reduce costly project delays;

ii. The complexity of the project requires the skills of an experienced general contractor; and the use of the CM/GC procurement process will enable the College to consider experience as part of the selection criteria;

iii. The College expects to be able to take advantage of reduced architectural service fees as a result of the more streamlined CM/GC approach;

iv. It is common practice in the industry to construct projects of this complexity on a CM/GC basis where detailed planning, scheduling, and sequencing is required by the owner, and

v. Historically, the CM/GC process helps reduce the number of change orders because the CM/GC contractor is part of the early planning discussions.

e. The Board makes the following specific findings in support of the above-noted findings:

i. Use of the team approach and an experienced general contractor through the CM/GC approach will enable the College to conduct its operations and maintain service during construction with few or no disruptions. The Board expects that the team approach allowed through the CM/GC process will also allow better monitoring by the College staff to ensure that the project stays within budget.

ii. The public will benefit because it is vital that the College have a completely operational instructional facility to serve the needs of its staff and students. Use of a CM/GC process will allow this to happen on a flexible schedule and will reduce the possibility that the College will experience increased costs due to delay and disruption.

iii. The team approach will result in better communication between the parties, which will encourage value engineering and constructability throughout the design and construction phases.

iv. As noted above, the complexity of the project requires a project team with substantial experience and expertise to avoid mistakes and limit unnecessary disruption of the College operation.

v. The CM/GC process will enhance public safety because the College will be able to consider the safety record of the contractors selected. Because the buildings will be occupied and open to the public throughout the project, this public safety benefit is particularly important.

vi. The CM/GC process will better enable the College to select a contractor with the skill and experience necessary to handle the technical complexities of the project, such as the proper scheduling and coordination of the sequence of work and systems integration required to have everything operational and ready for beneficial use by the College on schedule. The best way to ensure that the contractor selected has the technical skills necessary is using a CM/GC process that allows for qualifications to be a significant element of the evaluation and selection criteria.

vii. The team approach allowed by the CM/GC should give the College more cost solutions and alternatives, which will better enable PCC to keep the project within budget.
viii. The CM/GC process will enable the College to work with the contractor to maximize opportunities for participation by minority, women-owned, and emerging small businesses for subcontracting work. This will increase competition among subcontractors. Experience with past CM/GC contracts at the College demonstrates higher MWESB utilization and subcontractor participation than traditional contracting methods.

ix. Establishing an early relationship with the CM/GC will allow the design team to work with the contractor to produce detailed design specifications specifically related to PCC’s aggressive energy saving goals. This process allows these to be better realized and carried into design execution.

RECOMMENDATION: That the Board of Directors, acting as the Local Contract Review Board for the College, adopt the findings presented and grant an exemption from competitive bidding method for the CSB structural upgrade and renovation and authorize the use of the CM/GC contracting method, as the alternative contracting method for the project. Funding for this project is covered by the FMS Capital Projects (2000) Fund.
18-055 APPROVAL FOR 3-YEAR CONTRACT WITH MCGRAW-HILL GLOBAL EDUCATION HOLDINGS FOR ALEKS TEST

PREPARED BY: Tammy Billick, Dean of Student Affairs

FINANCIAL RESPONSIBILITY: Tammy Billick, Dean, Student Affairs
Rob Steinmetz, Vice-President, Student Affairs

APPROVED BY: Mark Mitsui, College President

REPORT: As part of the strategic move to multiple measures placement assessment, the College has implemented the ALEKS Placement, Preparation, and Learning (ALEKS PPL) platform to assess student readiness for college-level math courses, as well as to provide a tool for students to prepare for placement assessment, and to refresh and further develop their math skills in support of their college coursework.

ALEKS PPL was adopted based on research into effective tools for assessing students' math skills as well as providing support for students to refresh and refine their skills. ALEKS is the only available system that provides both components in a seamless transition between preparation and learning to assessment. It is a proven successful component of other multiple measures placement models upon which PCC's new placement process was based, and is already utilized as an instructional tool in many of the Math courses at PCC. There are no other solutions that provide this unique combination of assessment and remediation in an online, self-service format. The tool was recommended by the state-wide task force on placement, and pricing is determined by state-wide adoption of this tool.

With new placement process entering its first full year of implementation, the College would like to enter into a three-year contract with McGraw-Hill Global Educational Holdings to continue to use ALEKS in our placement assessment process. The annual cost for ALEKS is estimated to be $189,000 for a 3 year total cost of $540,000.

RECOMMENDATION: That the Board of Directors approve the 3 year contract with McGraw-Hill Global Educational Holdings for the ALEKS PPL platform.

NAMING OF THE PCC SYLVANIA ACCESSIBILITY CENTER IN HONOR OF STEPHANIE KEYES

PREPARED BY: Robert Wagner, Executive Officer, PCC Foundation
Ann Prater, Executive Director, PCC Foundation

APPROVED BY: Mark Mitsui, College President

REPORT: In recognition of a $308,000 gift from the estate of Stephanie Keyes, this resolution requests approval from the PCC Board to name the Sylvania Accessibility Center located in the CC Building in honor of deceased PCC alumna Stephanie Keyes.

Overview:
In December 2016, the PCC Foundation Board launched its first comprehensive campaign with the unanimous support of the College Board of Directors.

Our goal is to raise minimally $20 million in private philanthropic contributions and an additional $5 million from public partners. To date, the Foundation has raised more than $10 million through current and planned gifts. This historic campaign gives PCC the vehicle not only to generate large and small contributions, but it also offers the opportunity for the College and Foundation to recognize and honor donors whose generosity advances our mission, furthers our capacity to serve students and our community, and enhances our growth and reputation.

Specifically, the philanthropic naming of campus spaces represents a poignant and prominent honor for a donor deemed worthy of such recognition.

In that Naming Opportunities are exclusively controlled by the College, the PCC Foundation Board respectfully requests that the PCC Board rename the PCC Sylvania Accessibility Center the Stephanie Keyes Accessibility Center in recognition of this generous estate gift.

Nominee’s Background: In April 2017, PCC Foundation received an estate gift from Stephanie Keyes expressly to benefit the PCC Disability Services Office to “research and implement the use of technology – software or hardware – to help those with brain injuries get an education and live productive lives.”

Stephanie had received support from Disability Services after a car accident left her with a traumatic brain injury. Before the accident Stephanie was a successful professional in the field of computer programming at a time when it was rare for women to be accepted in the high tech industry. She had earned a Masters of Science in Math, a Masters of Science in Business Organizational Behavior and had completed course work for her PhD.

Stephanie’s talent led to continuous advancement opportunities, earning new jobs every 13-26 months. In a short biography written about her, the writer states “somehow the way she stored the information made it very easy for her to learn something new.” That ability changed in an instant on October 22, 1997, when Stephanie was the victim of a head on car collision. “At 3 p.m., a young man driving 60mph, the wrong way up Martin Luther King Blvd, split the two east side lanes, sideswiping five cars and using Stephanie’s as a stopping post. She turned her head away so the airbag hit side of her head.”

She was evaluated and released from the ER and returned to work two weeks later, but she was never the same. She tried to return to work but found she could no longer learn anything new. She had difficulty communicating with peers because she couldn’t find the words she needed.

In 1998 Stephanie took her first willow basket weaving class and continued taking classes for the next three years. She found that weaving soothed her brain. In 2004, seven years after the accident, doctors finally confirmed that Stephanie had experienced a traumatic brain injury. She began auditory processing therapy and within a month she could again read and understand articles.

In 2006, when Stephanie enrolled at PCC in a self-paced web design class, the Disability Services counselor recommended she try TypeWell Services, a communication access system that provides students with a live transcript, produced by transcribers using laptops with specialized software.

In a presentation archived by the Disability Services office, Stephanie wrote, “...it has been fabulous having these services. I do not have to worry about taking usable notes in class and can totally put my focus on understanding what the instructor is presenting. If my brain gets behind what the instructor is saying I can look down at the laptop and read what has been said...each brain injury is unique and the challenges the students face are unique also. Problems with memory, auditory and visual processing are common with most brain injuries.”

With the support of Disability Services, Stephanie earned her Web Assistant II certificate at PCC with a 4.0 average and wrote, “I am more proud of this accomplishment than all of my other degrees. This service will make it possible for many returning veterans as well as other folks with brain injuries to become productive individuals.”

Stephanie died in December 2016. In 2017, the PCC Foundation learned of Stephanie’s passing and of the importance that PCC had played in her life. Stephanie left 25 percent of her estate to benefit the PCC Disability Services office as a way of honoring the PCC faculty and staff that assisted her in her classwork, including Ruth McKenna, Sharon Allen, Susan Watson, and the TypeWell transcribers. The gift also honors the medical professionals who assisted in her recovering, including Dr. Danielle Erb, Margaret McReynolds, Carol Kitching, Dr. Jane Starbird, Dr. Judith Belk and Kim Garrett.

Philanthropic Contribution:
The estate of Stephanie Keyes contributed a $308,000 gift to PCC in April 2017. In honor of this gift, Sylvania Campus President Lisa Avery and the Accessibility Center faculty and staff would be honored to change the name of the Accessibility Center on the PCC Sylvania Campus to the Stephanie Keyes Accessibility Center. In addition to signage and a memorial plaque, they intend to include photos and examples of Stephanie’s art, commemorating her life and her courageous and complex journey.
Accessibility Center staff have identified that funds from this endowment will provide learning evaluations for students who are experiencing hidden disabilities, but don’t have documentation to support requests for academic accommodation. There are many students who would benefit from the kind of technology that helped Stephanie, but without clear documentation of how disability is impacting an individual, it can be difficult to know which technology supports may be most appropriate.

By providing students with the means to access learning evaluations and diagnostic reports, we can honor Stephanie’s wishes and help those with brain injuries and other learning differences get an education and live productive lives.

Naming Opportunity:
Detailed information can be found in the draft Naming and Recognition Agreement, which is attached.

The Foundation respectively asks the College Board to approve this request based on the following:
- While the PCC Foundation Gift Policy recommends a minimum gift of $1,000,000 for naming a building, the Accessibility Center is located inside the Sylvania Campus CC building and represents approximately 1684 square feet of that 182,101 square foot building.
- This gift has been fully funded, rather than pledged and paid over multiple years.
- The Accessibility Center does not have a marquis location on campus and serves a smaller group of students, rather than a larger more prominently placed building that serves many more students and purposes (i.e., library).
- This naming provides a significant opportunity to celebrate as we move further along with our comprehensive campaign as it provides excellent momentum and could spur additional, sizable gifts for the College, its students and programs.
- PCC has a tremendous amount of buildings, structures, property, and other assets with the potential to name with little prior history of doing so for philanthropic reasons. This gift helps initiate this process in a thoughtful and meaningful way.
RECOMMENDATION: That the PCC College Board of Directors approve the naming of the Accessibility Center the Stephanie Keyes Accessibility Center upon final execution of the Naming and Recognition Agreement.

AUTHORIZE DISTRICT PRESIDENT OR DESIGNEE TO NEGOTIATE THE VOLUNTARY SALE OF COLLEGE OWNED REAL PROPERTY AT THE ROCK CREEK CAMPUS

PREPARED BY: Linda Degman, Director, Bond Program

FINANCIAL RESPONSIBILITY: Linda Degman, Director, Bond Program

APPROVED BY: Sylvia Kelley, Executive Vice President
Mark Mitsui, College President

REPORT: The College’s Rock Creek Campus includes property located on the frontage of Springville Road. The frontage was expanded during the 2008 Bond Program when the college purchased four residential properties that have now been brought into use by the campus for farm use.

There is a residential property west of our new property line that is an occupied home. Our new property line is about 15 feet away from the house and our intended use of the field is for farm animals. The property owners Jerry and Christine Arnold approached the college and asked if PCC would be willing to sell them 40'-45' of land so that the farms animals would be further from their residence.

The Arnolds are long standing homeowners at that location and have been a good neighbor to the campus and college. Our intended use of that land is for farm use and the selling of the parcel would not have an adverse impact on the campus or program.

A survey has been completed and the total property line adjustment would be 43’ to the east, totaling 16,556 sf. The price for the property would be, $4.50/SF or $74,502.

RECOMMENDATION: That the Board delegate authority to the District President or designee to negotiate the sale of 16,556 sf of property, to Jerry and Christine Arnold, upon the concurrence of College Counsel.
