

PCC's Vaccination Clinics

Thursday, September 23, 2021

Tricia Brand, Chief Diversity Officer

Goals of Community Clinics

Leverage our value as trusted “agency” to provide a set of resources for medical and community-based organization (CBO) partners to support equitable access and education about the COVID-19 vaccine.

Host clinics where local vaccination data suggest our campuses are located where communities are adversely impacted by COVID-19.

Reduce barriers to education and availability of vaccine events with targeted partnerships with community health agencies and CBOs to host vaccination events for impacted communities.

Impact of Community Vaccination Efforts

"The vaccine clinics have provided a unique opportunity for PCC to demonstrate how we [the College] can be a pillar of support for our community, both in and outside of the classroom." - Amy Bader, PCC Community Relations Manager

"The clinics highlight the value of community partnerships and engagement with community based organizations at PCC." - Jenny Lee Berry, OHSU Community Relations Manager, Public Relations

"Through intentional clinic partnerships and culturally responsive outreach with community partners, we have been able to reach and serve our diverse community" - Tricia Brand, PCC Chief Diversity Officer
