Thanks to voters' support for the 2008 bond measure, PCC will start construction at Cascade Campus in NE Portland this winter.

We're excited about the new classrooms and services we'll soon be able to offer area students. Before we proceed with further design work, we'd like to hear from you, our neighbors and business stakeholders.

Your perspectives, ideas and feedback on a menu of design options and materials for the new Student Center and academic building will help us move into the next phase of design and construction.

During the last week of June, we'll be in the neighborhood, at local businesses, participating in the Peninsula Park-Sunday Parkways and in a tent in the center of Cascade Campus. Come learn about the planning and early design work and tell us what you think about the various building design options.

Please join us!
