Project Framework

What will we do?

Review the North Stars and Design Implications developed by the Design Equity Committee

Provide advice and input to the design team throughout the design process

Review the work of the Design Equity Committee and provide input and context for their recommendations

Act as liaisons to others at the college and provide their perspectives

North Stars Process

North Stars Examples

#1

Our school unifies our diverse community, history and traditions. This is a place where everyone sees themselves reflected.

Balance the exciting prospects of new/modern facilities while honoring historical elements.

Our school is safe, accessible, and welcoming. This is a place of pride for our community.

CELEBRATE
feels like a key word for RHS.

We need to design for informal gathering spaces (students practicing for Multi, town halls, Lunar New Year, 1:1 connections, etc.)

Find opportunities for the architecture to be a backdrop for celebration.

Students talked about arriving at spaces that had places for community gathering, visibility into different levels, and a sense of a grand entry.

Our school is comfortable, joyful, and supports our social, physical, and emotional well-being.

Students have told us that joy is about student ownership & expression of self. It's safe spaces with trusted adults, and some spaces that feel like "there's no blueprint for how you should act." These moments don't always have to be big moves - they can be small, too.

Design for student expression that can be cultivated by changing student classes.

Our school has unique learning pathways that empower students to pursue their interests now and into the future.

Students & educators advocate for a variety/creative ways to engage with their learning - including in the outdoors.

We know we need to balance glass - it feels good for passive supervision and connection to outside. It doesn't feel good when it's too high visibility in the center of things, like a "fishbowl".

Our school upholds intercultural understanding, respect, and excellence to create positive global impacts.

Spaces that emphasize small and large scales of connection/conversation are super important to students and important to the idea that the new RHS is a place that unifies us. Art and color reinforce this.

Find impactful moments of color that are art/school pride-based and can amplify the smaller, more domestic scale elements. Color that "feels like home, my community."

What We Heard

Program Adjacencies

- Consider the synergies between different programs

Display

- Need space to document student work
- Having critique areas is important

Music & Theater

- Like having music and theater on the same level
- Excited about the taller ceiling in Little Theater
- Excited about potential for theater to be a shared space

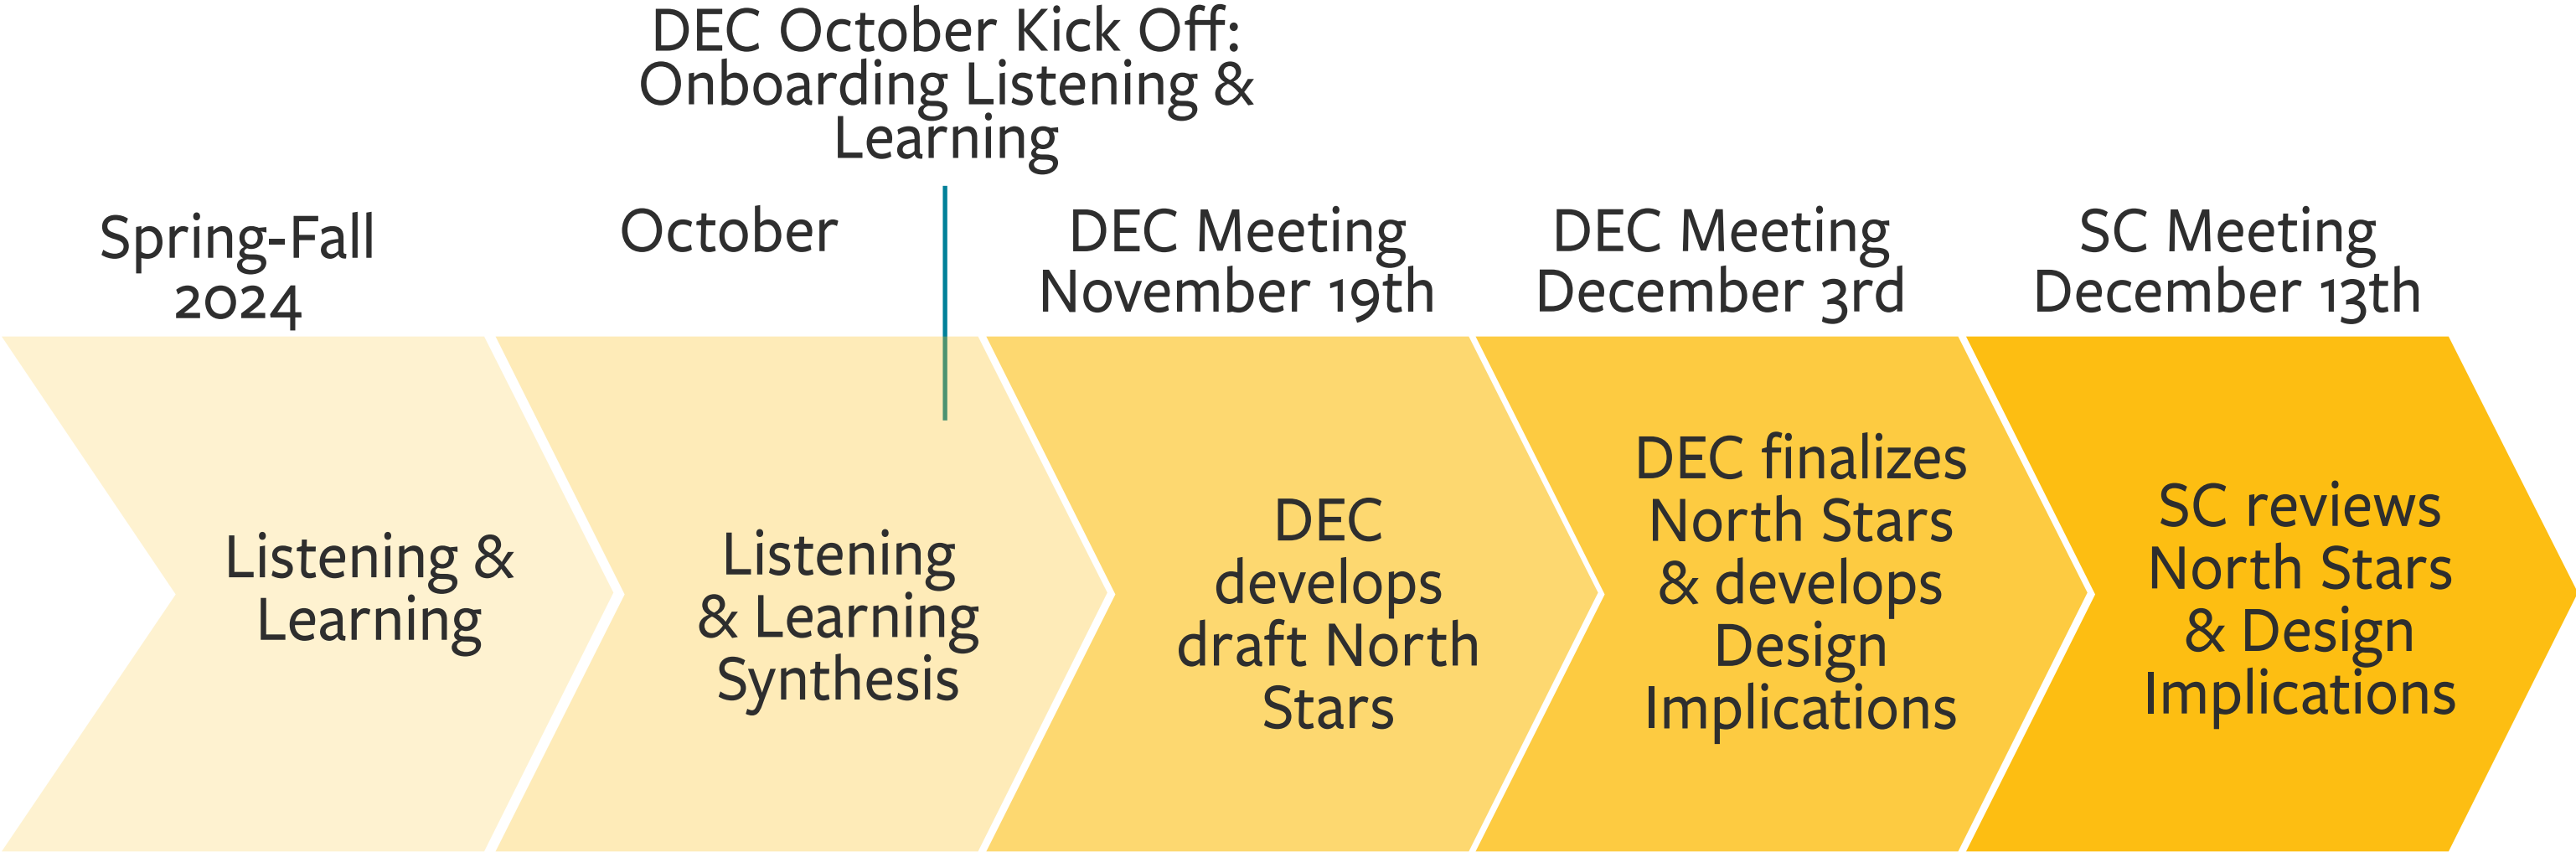

Makerspace

- Need to balance the desire to have Makerspace in the building with the cost and staffing requirements

Process

- Consider creating separate steering groups for CT Building and Swing Spaces
- For temporary relocations, the goal is to keep the same quantity of courses

North Stars Timeline

Next Steps

Early December: Schematic Design begins

December 13: Steering Committee Meeting

- Project Updates (10 minutes)
- CRT Training with Amara Pérez (45 minutes)

An aerial photograph of a school campus. The central part of the image shows a large, multi-story school building with a flat roof. To the right of the building is a green athletic field with a blue track. Several large parking lots are visible, some with cars parked. The campus is surrounded by dense green trees. In the bottom left corner, there is a residential neighborhood with houses and trees. A road runs diagonally across the bottom left. The word "Questions?" is overlaid in a large, white, outlined font across the center of the image.

Questions?
